

As a newly licensed Tech No Code I am one who hopes the FCC will move quickly to remove the morse code restructure the licenses so that Tech No Code licenses can operate on the HF frequencies. Ham Radio is dying at it,s present rate of new operators. Why not open the freq,s and let millions of new people enter and enjoy the hobby for those that like cw let them continue to use it if they wish but it is an obsolete form of communications in this day and age so please lets modernize the licenses and let all people have a chance to experience the use of all the available freq,s